RAILROAD MUSEUM OF PENNSYLVANIA OPENS FOR NIGHT PHOTO SHOOTS Capture The Trains In A New Light

Strasburg, Lancaster County, PA—The Railroad Museum of Pennsylvania is offering three night photo shoots at the Museum in 2010: Friday, May 21 during Conrail Days, Friday, June 4 during Pennsylvania Railroad “Pennsy” Days and Friday, July 2 during Reading Railroad Days.

“These are rare opportunities for photography enthusiasts and rail fans to capture the Museum’s historic collection of locomotives and railroad cars in a whole new light, both inside the vast Rolling Stock Hall and in the outdoor restoration yard,” says Railroad Museum of Pennsylvania visitor services manager Ryan C. Kunkle.

Each of the Friday night photo shoots begins at 8:00 p.m. and advance registration is required. The cost per person for the general public is $20.00 per session. Members of the Friends of the Railroad Museum of Pennsylvania and members of several railroad historical groups can take advantage of a reduced rate of $15.00 per person per session. A night photo shoots registration form may be downloaded from the Railroad Museum of Pennsylvania’s web site, or may be obtained by calling the Museum.
